

THE UNISA COLLEGE OF HUMAN SCIENCES

Cordially invites you to

AFRICA SPEAKS:

STATES OF WOMEN, STATES OF UNREST, STATES OF POWER:

Presented by
Ms. Lebohang Liepollo Pheko

Date: (Wednesday) 04 August 2021

Time: 10:00-12:00

Venue: MS Teams

For more information contact:

Thandeka Magwenyana

magwet@unisa.ac.za

CLICK HERE TO JOIN

Lebohang Liepollo Pheko is an activist scholar, academic, public intellectual, development practitioner for over 25 years. Her broad research interests include African political economy, States & nationhood, international trade global financial governance, feminist economics, regional integration and impacts of globalisation on labour migration. International Trade Decolonial African Feminist Theory International Development, Political Economy, Political theory, Race and Decolonial studies and the position of African countries in relation to International Institutions like the IMF, the World Bank, the WTO, the UN, the ICC Liepollo has taught at various institutions globally on the same and contributed to several books and over 70 articles/conference papers on these areas.

Senior Research Fellow at research and policy advocacy think tank Trade Collective she is considered a leading exponent on the African Political Economy, Decolonial African Feminism, International Trade and African development. She has taught, worked lived across 41 countries giving technical and political solidarity to various movements and organisations. Her work is grounded in a race, class and feminist analysis and Pheko is committed to grounding academic research in community struggles & contexts.

Over the past year, she has been part of framing and curating African centered policy ideas on feminist economics in the post covid era in what she calls 'covid nomics' Pheko also has long standing commitment to excavating struggle memories to counter main stream Statist narratives.